HOLLEY DRIGGS LAW FIRM GIVES BACK TO LAS VEGAS
COMMUNITY BY PARTICIPATING IN GIRLS ON THE RUN
SPRING 5K ON MAY 5

LAS VEGAS (May 8, 2018) – Nevada-based law firm, Holley Driggs Walch Fine Puzey Stein Thompson, was honored to sponsor and participate in the Girls on The Run Spring 5K on May 5 at UNLV in Las Vegas. Among those from the Firm that participated were shareholders Brian W. Boschee and Kristol Bradley Ginapp, as well as attorneys Andrea M. Gandara and Mikkaela N. Vellis.

“We are proud to be a sponsor this year of the Spring 5K,” said Boschee. “Our Firm is committed to not only giving back to the community, but also empowering women in the legal profession. This local partnership supports young girls knowing and engaging their limitless potential, and as such, is a natural fit for us.”

Holley Driggs is a law firm with strong corporate and business clientele. Its shareholders practice primarily in the areas of business, both transactional and complex litigation, technology and intellectual property, entertainment law, gaming law, real estate, natural resources, employment law, bankruptcy, construction, and appellate work. The Firm is also committed to public service and community involvement in Nevada and nationally, as evidenced by the political and charitable activities and professional associations of its shareholders.

Girls on The Run inspires girls to recognize inner strength and celebrate what makes them one of a kind. Trained coaches lead small teams through research-based curricula which includes dynamic discussions, activities and running games. Over the course of a ten-week program, girls in 3rd-8th grade develop essential skills to help them navigate their worlds and establish appreciation for health and fitness. The program culminates with girls positively impacting their communities through a service project and being physically and emotionally prepared to complete a celebratory 5K event which was the milestone this past weekend.
